The instructional staff of Red River Technical school attended the vocational educational conference in Little Rock and while on a tour of U.S. Time was given a model 500 Bruning Copyflex Blueprint machine. Shepherds, Inc., Little Rock, made the presentation to the school. Arthur Dillard, machine shop, instructor, made the contact for the machine. Garland Shepherd, president of the firm, is sending a serviceman to install it properly.

RE-ENTRY VEHICLE for future astronauts returning to earth from space could resemble this model rotor craft now undergoing wind-tunnel tests at NASA's Ames Research Center, Mountain View, Calif. It's designed to enter the atmosphere with partially extended rotor blades, angled back, to slow it down from the high speed of orbital flight. Once in the atmosphere, the craft would extend rotors fully, as shown on the model, for descent to earth much as a conventional helicopter makes an unpowered landing.

Minutemen Meet at Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The head of the controversial Minutemen is scheduled to appear in Fayetteville tonight for an 8 p.m. address in the Shelton-Tucker American Legion hut.

Robert B. DePugh of Kansas City, Mo., head of the anti-Communist group, is scheduled to speak on "the Communist conspiracy."

He and four others were indicted Aug. 20 on a charge of conspiring to violate the federal firearms act by transferring and making firearms without paying the required tax.

They were also charged with receiving and possessing firearms that had not been registered.

A spokesman for the Legion post said the American Legion was not connected in any way to DePugh's appearance. The spokesman said the hut had been rented for the talk.

Shells Taken From Wreckage

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — An area around the derailment of a Rock Island freight train was sealed off and posted with guards Monday as Army and Navy demolition teams began removing phosphorus shells from two boxcars.

Nineteen cars of the freight derailed early Sunday about five miles east of Forrest City between the Widener and Madison communities.

Railroad officials said the track would be closed until the shells had been removed. Some of the other wreckage had been cleared from the area, officials said.

Boardwalk Quiet After Youth Riots

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The boardwalk was quiet today after hundreds of youths rioted on the last day of the summer season in this resort city.

Police, driving four patrol cars side by side, swept the crowd from the boardwalk. Officers had swung their clubs and fired shots into the air in earlier attempts to disperse the mob.

Then the youths — many college and teen-agers — moved to nearby streets, vandalizing cars and breaking windows.

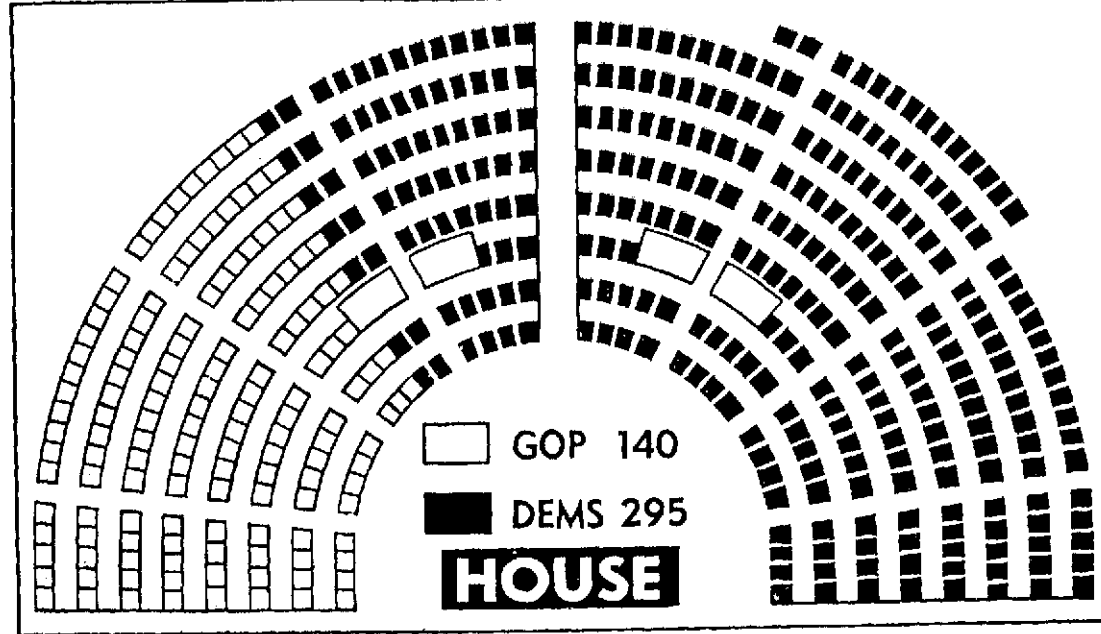

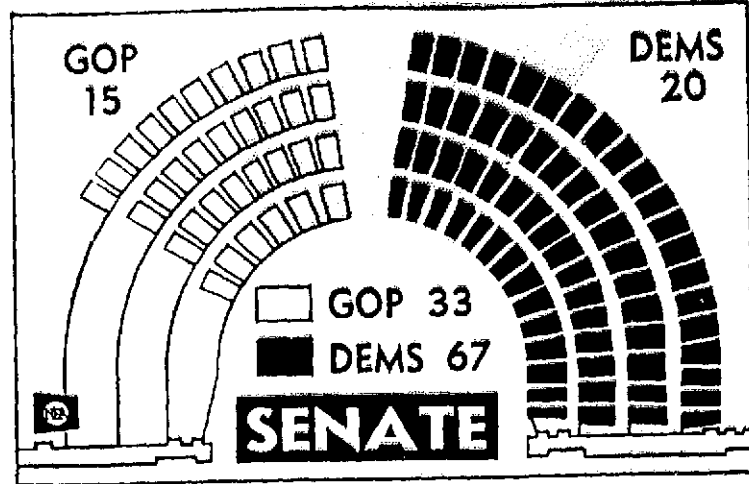

There were no reports of injuries but 28 youths were arrested. Most were charged with disorderly conduct, loitering and juvenile delinquency.

The two-hour spree began about 2 a.m. Monday.

Caballeros Win It Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hawthorne, N.J., Caballeros have won their sixth American Legion national senior drum and bugle corps championships in seven years. They missed out last year.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS will reshuffle the present make-up of Congress. In the Senate, right, the 100 seats are now split 67 Democratic, 33 Republican. Only 35, 20 Democratic and 15 Republican, will be at stake in the balloting, however, with the Democrats favored to retain firm control. In the House, below, now divided 295 Democrats and 140 Republicans, all 435 members are to be elected and chances of significant GOP gains are considered strongest.

Big Hole Found in Jail Floor

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Deputies discovered an 18-inch hole in the steel plate floor of an exercise room of the Spokane County Jail here this week.

They marched 11 inmates from an adjoining cellblock but found no hidden cutting tools. Sheriff William J. Reilly said the would-be escapees would have gotten a lot more exercise in the exercise room. Under the steel plate is another floor — of reinforced concrete.

Gas Cooks Faster...

Cools off Faster!

RESULT: Instant Heat!..Cooler Kitchens!

Yes, gas cooks faster! Turn it on—it heats instantly —no "warmup time" needed! One recent test showed gas boils water almost 75% faster than electricity! And, when gas is off—it's off! No hold-over, lingering heat... for a cooler kitchen.

Gas cooking is clean, too! A good example: The broiler door stays closed on a gas range, not gaping open to let greasy fumes escape into your kitchen!

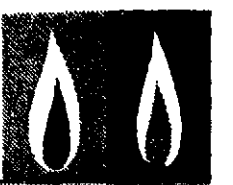

Buy a new gas range now from us or dealers. Cook cool and clean, with a blue gas flame!

999,999 people, what's one more?

India has more people than the combined total of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Brazil, England, France, West Germany, the Soviet Union, Australia and Japan.

It is surpassed only by Communist China, which has an estimated 750 million people.

The impact of population pressure has a grim, personal meaning here.

If conditions continue as they are, citizen No. 500 million will face dismal prospects for his life on the subcontinent, among them:

One chance in four of learning to read or write.

A life expectancy of 45 years—less if the baby is a girl—compared with 70 in the United States.

An average income of $42 per year, or 13 cents per day. He will spend eight out of every 10 rupees on food alone.

One chance in 140 of ever owning a radio; one chance in 1,000 of owning a telephone; and one chance in 3,000 of buying a newspaper.

One thing the baby can almost bet on is that he will get married. Only one out of every 12,500 Indians stays single. What's more, they marry young—often in their early teens—and have lots of children.

He can also count on a lifetime filled with illness and disease, because of an insufficient and poorly balanced diet and because of contaminated water and unsanitary surroundings.

With massive assistance from abroad, India is making progress toward eradicating disease and increasing the food available. Ironically, this progress is behind India's skyrocketing population.

Epidemics used to kill millions of people. In 1918 an estimated 13 million Indians died of influenza and the country lost population between 1911 and 1921 censuses. But today, malaria has been conquered, smallpox is being wiped out and other diseases are in retreat.

Droughts used to ruin crops periodically and result in millions of starvation deaths. This type of tragedy was repeated as recently as 1943, but when famine threatened this year the United States shipped millions of tons of grain to India.

These advances have helped double India's population since 1901. Unless the birth rate is drastically reduced, it will double again—to one billion people—by 2000.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. DONALD LEROY MEADE

Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church, Miss Sharon Kay Greene became the bride of Donald Leroy Meade. Rev. Robert Moore, Jr., officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Green, Mr. Meade's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben E. Meade of Gretna, La., formerly of Magnolia.

The couple exchanged marriage vows before an arch of greenery flanked on either side by basket arrangements of white stock and gladioli. Myriad white cathedral tapers as background and outlining the choir rail, cast a soft glow upon the setting. The fresh coolness of jade fern and smilax was effective as it was banked against the rich brown wood of the sanctuary. Southern smilax and white satin ribbons marked the pews reserved for the parents of the couple.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt at the organ presented a program of preludial music and played softly "O Perfect Love" during the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on the white satin prie dieu.

Candle lighters were Chris Poole of Malvern and Kenneth Meade, brother of the groom. Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Tom Meade. Ushers and groomsmen were Charles E. Daugherty of Lake Charles, La., Don Setliff of Magnolia, Chris Poole of Malvern, and Kenneth Meade of Gretna, La.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Phil Trotter of La Marque, Texas. Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Grigg of Hope and Miss Judy Greene of Waldo, cousin of the bride. The attendants wore identical formal length gowns of topaz gold crepe designed with a softly controlled skirt, semi-bell sleeves and an empire waistline outlined and bowed in silk peau of a lighter golden hue.

Their slippers matched their dresses and in their hair they wore flat Dior bows of silk peau attached to a double circlet of gold tulle. They wore short white gloves and carried cascade bouquets of bronze pom mums tied with Belera streamers.

Flower girl was little Miss Kathryn Quillin, cousin of the bride.

She was dressed identically to the feminine attendants in a floor length frock of crystal gold silk peau and carried a white basket from which fleur d'amour blossoms were scattered in the path of the bride. In her hair she wore a wedding ring of bronze Fuji mums.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was elegant in floor length gown of crepe boucle which she designed and created with empire lines, scoop decollete, and chandler sleeves accented by three tiers of Brussels lace. The chapel train fell gracefully from a bow attached at the waistline. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by a triple-tiered coronet of Brussels lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of fleur d'amour centered with gardenias. Her only jewelry was a delicate diamond drop, a gift of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Greene wore an olive green crepe dress simply cut with a soft draping effect from the shoulder and her accessories matched.

Mrs. Meade chose a two-piece costume ensemble of beige crepe with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Greene were host to a reception at the Heritage House.

In the center of the bride's table, which was laid with a floor length cloth of white satin, was a silver epergne containing white stock, Fuji mums, and delicate fern. Here the bride placed her bouquet. The four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom was served by Miss Mary Alice Caston. At the punch service was Mrs. Charles E. Daugherty of Lake Charles, La.

Rice bags tied with white ribbon rose buds were distributed by little Miss Kathryn Quillin.

Presiding at the bride's book was Miss Kathy Lewis. Here also was the softly glowing memory candle. Also extending courtesies were Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. H. D. Green of La Mesa, Calif., Mrs. Ted Price, Miss Sherry Burke, and Mrs. Weaver Quillin, cousin of the bride.

During the reception Miss Dora Ann King provided music at the piano.

When Mr. and Mrs. Meade left for a wedding trip the bride wore a gold costume suit of Bacarra knit with matching accessories and flowers from her bouquet at her shoulder.

Upon their return they will make their home in Fayetteville where both are students at the University of Arkansas.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In this land of make believe and magic it is easy for the visitor to become confused about where reality leaves off and play-acting begins. The alternative is to conclude that everything here is like those streets in the studio back lots where there is nothing but air behind the impressive facades of the houses.

Take, for example, the matter of money in Hollywood. After a few weeks spent listening to casual talk of large sums, it almost seems that there are two classes of greenbacks. There are the kind that most of us work for, and there are the kinds that are shoveled out so generously to these talented creatures in the entertainment capital.

"I didn't really want to work in Vegas," a well-known but not really top-drawer singing star told this reporter casually. "It just didn't seem right, though, to turn down $60,000 for just two weeks work."

"Sure it's a nice house on a good Beverly Hills street," said the wife of a theatrical agent modestly. "But it needed some paint and repairs, so we were able to pick it up for only $200,000."

It has been widely circulated in the trade that the "Bonanza" stars, under contracts signed last year, receive $10,000 per episode, which is more than many families make in a year. In a normal season this could add up to some $300,000 per hero — not counting, of course, extra looks from guest shots on other shows, royalties on records and the rewards for appearances at state fairs and rodeos.

One of the trade papers recently headlined a story about a general cutback in top prices paid guest-stars in TV series. It appears the supply of available actors exceeds the demand.

Take-home pay of most stars is almost impossible to estimate. Most of them operate amid a welter of companies and corporations supervised by tax lawyers. It is known, however, that one star of a series that was canceled after a short run still managed to total an income well over $150,000 in the period.

It was recently estimated by a trade paper that a number of big TV personalities, including Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Garry Moore and Bob Hope actually hit close to the million-dollar mark most years.

Pirates See Margin Drop to a Game

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pittsburgh's theme song started out as Happy Birthday to You, but the Pirates ended up singing the blues.

Bill Mazeroski celebrated his 30th birthday Monday with a grand-slam homer in the third inning of Pittsburgh's 13-5 blitz of Atlanta in the first game of a doubleheader. Maz came back with a bases-empty shot in the sixth inning and he also drove in a run in the first with an infield out.

But in the nightcap, Braves pitcher Tony Cloninger breezed into the ninth inning, with a six-run margin, having allowed the heavy-hitting Pirates just three hits. The first-place Bucs put up a ferocious fight, scoring four runs in the final frame, but Cloninger held on and the Braves won 7-5.

With the split, the Pittsburgh margin dwindled to a game and a half over second-place Los Angeles, which beat San Francisco 4-1. The Giants fell 2½ games off the pace in third place.

Mazeroski's grand slam was his second this season and the third of his career. He has 15 homers this season. But he wasn't the only long-ball hitter in the doubleheader. Joe Torre, Henry Aaron, Ed Mathews and Denis Menke all hit them out for the Braves.

In other National League games, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from New York, 8-2 and 8-5, the second game in 10 innings. Philadelphia and Chicago split 4-5 and 7-2, and St. Louis and Houston divided a pair 4-1 and 6-0.

timore took a pair from New York, 5-4 and 7-1, Boston split with Cleveland 5-4 and 1-3, Chicago took Minnesota 7-4, Washington beat Detroit 6-4 before bowing 7-4 and Kansas City defeated California 4-1.

The Dodgers snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning with four bases on balls and wrapped it up with a run-scoring single by Willie Davis in the ninth, followed by Tommy Davis' run-scoring double.

Willie Davis and Hal Lanier of the Giants matched solo homers earlier in the game. Billy Hoelt issued three of the ninth-inning walks, one intentionally, but Frank Linzy, who walked lead-off hitter Jim Gilliam, took the defeat.

A crowd of 54,769 turned out to see the traditional rivalry, the largest crowd ever to see a daytime game in Dodger Stadium.

Gordy Coleman's pinch-hit single in the 10th inning of the second game broke the tie and started a four-run Cincinnati rally that beat the Mets. Leo Cardenas and Tommy Helms homered for the Reds in the opener. Cardenas and Vada Pinson homered in the nightcap as did Cleon Jones for the Mets.

Rich Allen's 37th homer and a four-run ninth inning gave Philadelphia all the runs it needed in the finale after Glenn Beckert's two-run, two-out single gave the Cubs the opener. Beckert has now hit safely in 16 straight games.

Larry Dierker brought Houston's nine-game losing streak to a halt by throwing a five-hitter in the second game of the doubleheader. Bob Gibson won his 18th game in the opener with a three-hitter for the Cards. Orlando Cepeda hit his 19th homer in the opener and John Bateman of the Astros got four hits and drove in three runs in the nightcap.

New York State University, with 107,707 students, has the largest full-time enrollment of 1,095 institutions surveyed recently.

Name Players Are Given Walking Papers

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
It was a black day for the Irish, even if the names are Pietrosante, Izo and Arrington.

And Tucker Frederickson was not in good spirits, either. Nick Pietrosante, George Izo and Dick Arrington, all former Notre Dame football stars, were looking for jobs today after they were given their walking papers Monday.

Pietrosante and Izo received the surprise news from the Detroit Lions and of the National Football League before a Labor Day practice, and Pietrosante did not take the news lightly.

The 29-year-old fullback, who led the Lions in rushing in 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1964, felt his release came so near the opening of the season this weekend that it cut his chances to negotiate with other clubs.

"I gave them what they wanted for seven years," he said, "and I think I should have been treated a bit better." He said Coach Harry Gilmer "had not spoken to me for eight weeks before I was called to his office today (Monday) and told I was being cut."

Pietrosante, who saw little action during Detroit's winless exhibition season, carried the ball 938 times in his career for 3,933 yards, both Detroit records.

Tom Nowatzke and Joe Don Looney probably will take Pietrosante's spot.

Izo, who played behind Milt Plum and then rookie Karl Sweetan of Wake Forest, was a seven-year veteran.

The Lions acquired halfback Jim Todd of Ball State, recently released by Philadelphia.

Arrington got the ax along with Jim Boudreaux of Louisiana Tech from the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. The Pats paid plenty to outbid the Cleveland Browns of the NFL for Arrington, a No. 2 draft choice in 1964 as a future, and Boudreaux, a No. 2 pick last year. Both are linemen.

Boston also cut split end Charlie Smith, a free agent from Boston College, and signed defensive tackle Ed Khayat, a nine-year veteran of the NFL.

Freder Jackson of New York suffered torn knee ligaments in Saturday night's exhibition against Green Bay and underwent surgery Sunday. He will be lost for the season, a crippling blow to the Giants' rebuilding program.

"Frederickson was a key man in our offense," Giant Coach Alie Sherman said. "We've got a lot of other good young backs, but Frederickson is the one who made them all go."

The former Auburn star, New York's No. 1 draft pick in 1964, was sixth in the NFL in rushing last season with 659 yards in 195 carries.

Big 3 Has Punch in Oriole Win

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Baltimore's power structure may be crumbling, but a couple of glove-men have the situation in hand.

Defensive stars Paul Blair and Dave Johnson, who usually perform in the shadow of the Orioles' Frank Robinson-Brooks Robinson-Boog Powell wrecking crew, supplied the big punch Monday in a 5-4, 7-4 doubleheader sweep over the skidding New York Yankees.

Powell is nursing a hand injury, Brooks Robinson is battling a prolonged batting slump and Frank Robinson hasn't hit a homer in six games—but the Orioles are still winging toward their first modern-era pennant.

The Robinsons settled for three singles between them in Monday's twin bill and Powell watched from the bench, but Blair and Johnson enjoyed field days as the American League leaders officially ousted the Yankees from the race.

Centerfielder Blair, a normally light-hitting speedster who plays only against left-handed pitching, numbered a homer among his four hits and knocked in five runs, including the game-winning run in the opener.

Second baseman Johnson, making his first appearance since suffering a broken toe and spike wound in an Aug. 20 baseball collision, stroked five hits, including a homer and two doubles, while driving in three runs.

The sweep stretched Baltimore's lead to 10½ games over the second-place Detroit Tigers, who bowed to Washington 6-4 before beating the Senators 7-4 in the second game of their doubleheader.

It also set the Orioles' magic number for clinching the flag at 14 while mathematically eliminating New York on the earliest date since 1925.

Elsewhere, Boston beat Cleveland 5-1 after dropping its doubleheader opener 3-1; Chicago downed Minnesota 7-4 and Kansas City defeated California 4-1.

In the National League, Atlanta upended Pittsburgh 7-5 in the second game of a doubleheader after the first-place Pirates took the opener 13-5; Los Angeles topped San Francisco 4-1; Cincinnati swept New York 8-2 and 8-5; Houston blanked St. Louis 6-0 after losing 4-1, and Philadelphia split with Chicago, losing 5-4 and winning 7-2.

Blair slugged a two-run homer in the seventh inning of the first game and delivered the winning run in the ninth with a two-out single off left-hander Fritz Peterson. He singled another run across in the second inning of the nightcap and capped a four-run burst in the fifth with a sacrifice fly.

Johnson drilled his seventh home run in the opener and doubled before Blair's fifth homer. In the second game he drove in two runs, stroking a double and two singles.

The Tigers bounced back against Washington in the nightcap behind left-hander Johnny Podres, who yielded six hits on the way to his first complete game victory in the league.

Homers by Al Kaline, Norm Cash and Mickey Stanley powered the Detroit attack.

Kalime and Don Wert homered in the first game but the Senators' Frank Howard countered by driving in three runs with two singles, breaking a 3-3 tie in the seventh with his second hit.

Sonny Siebert pitched a six-hitter for his 16th victory and struck out 11 as the Indians ended a five-game losing string in the nightcap against Boston.

Successive third-inning homers by Tony Conigliaro and George Scott backed Lee Stange's four-hit pitching in the first game.

Smoky Burgess drove in the tie-breaking run with a pinch-hit single in the seventh, sparking a four-run rally that carried the White Sox past Minnesota. Tommie Agee's two-run single and a run-costing passed ball completed the winning burst.

Rookie Jim Nash held California hitless for 4 2/3 innings and finished with a five-hitter and his 10th victory in 11 decisions. Ed Charles paced the A's with three hits and a pair of RBI.

Australian Surprises Tennis Star

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)

Rumors spread today that Mrs. Billie Jean King was upset, emotionally disturbed over the choice of the umpire when she suffered a surprising defeat by an overlooked Australian in the U.S. Tennis Championships.

Billie Jean, however, was having none of it.

"I felt all right. She simply outplayed me," she said after being upset 6-4, 6-4 by 19-year-old Kerry Melville in the second round Monday.

Mrs. King, the Wimbledon champion and co-holder of the top ranking in this country, was top-seeded in the women's bracket.

Rumor had it that she had been disturbed when she discovered that S.R. Bumann of Dallas was to umpire her match. Bumann reportedly led the drive that prompted the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association to give Nancy Richey co-ranking with Mrs. King as America's No. 1 player.

"I didn't know until after Bumann was in the chair that he might be objected to by Mr. King," said Alexander Clark, in charge of assigning umpires.

"If I had known, I wouldn't have assigned him. But once he's in the chair, I can't remove him. That's up to the referee."

All observers agreed, however, that while it may have been upsetting to Mrs. King, the officiating had nothing to do with her elimination. The victory was clearly earned by Miss Melville.

Miss Melville, ranked second among Australia's junior girls and ninth among the country's women players, is not seeded in this tournament.

She will rest today while the opposite half of the women's draw catches up with second-round matches.

The men's tournament, meanwhile, continues with eighth-seeded Cliff Richey on the sidelines. He was upset by Australian Owen Davidson, 7-5, 8-6, 6-1.

Costs Public $3,000 a Second to Keep the Government in Style

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: It costs taxpayers about $3,000 a second, night and day, to keep the U.S. government in the style to which it has become accustomed.

The chief reason that many retired people are unhappy is that only one in nine workers makes advance plans on how he'll spend his time after leaving his job.

How often do you swallow? Well, you probably swallow 48 times while gulping down a quick drugstore lunch, 31 to 38 times an hour while lying down reading, sitting quietly or sleeping.

There's a lot of money in insurance these days, and where there's a lot of money you usually find a lot of women. So it's no major surprise to learn that out of the 700,000 employees in the insurance field are women.

Included among the 6,000 galenents are 328 who last year sold at least $250,000 insurance each.

Trucks now haul 52 per cent of all intercity tonnage of manufactured products except those made from petroleum and coal.

One of the results of the long hullabaloo over equal rights for women is that, here and there, men are getting equal rights, too. In at least 11 states, husbands have received alimony awards.

Have children in your neighborhood lost respect for you because you can't tell them the difference between a frog and a toad? Well, it's generally pretty easy. Frogs have smooth skins, toads have warty skins.

Primaries Are Slated in Iowa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iowa Republicans choose today between a university professor and a newspaper publisher for their nominee for governor.

Contestants in the primary are William G. Murray, professor of agricultural economics at Iowa State, and Robert K. Beck, publisher of the Centerville Iowaian and Citizen.

In a second gubernatorial primary, Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada is seeking Democratic renomination amidst a considerable hue and cry over federal eyeing — and listening in on — the legalized gambling in his state. He has five primary opponents.

North Dakota also is holding its primary but national interest is chiefly on a bid by Martin Vaaler, a John Birch Society member, for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 2nd district.

Vaaler, a former member of the State Public Service Commission, is running against Thomas S. Kleppe, former mayor of Bismarck, who was endorsed by the party convention.

Rep. Rolland Redlin, a first-term, is unopposed for Democratic renomination. The winner of the Murray-Beck contest faces Gov. Harold E. Hughes, unopposed for Democratic renomination, in the general election.

Iowa also elects a senator this year. Republican Sen. Jack R. Miller expects easy renomination but has a primary opponent in Herbert F. Hoover, a farmer and distant cousin of the one-time president, who is running on a peace platform.

On the Democratic side, there is a five-man entry but only two are regarded as serious contenders. They are E. B. Smith, an Iowa State history professor, who was endorsed by the state convention, and Secretary of State Gary L. Cameron.

None of the state's House delegation — six Democrats and one Republican — is opposed for renomination.

Sawyer's principal challenge ers in Nevada are Charles Springer, a former state attorney general, and Dist. Atty. Edward G. Marshall of Las Vegas.

Just last week, the State Gaming Commission reported it had looked into reports of underworld rackets and ties with gambling and had found no evidence of this.

The report said federal activities in relation to gambling — and published reports of underworld links — began shortly after Robert F. Kennedy, now the New York Democratic senator, became attorney general in 1961.

It attributed to federal agents:

— Planting of electronic listening devices in homes as well as casinos.

— Plans for massive raids on casinos which it said would have brought "disastrous publicity to the state" and which it declared were sidetracked after Sawyer met with President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy commented that "President Kennedy was at no time in any way involved."

Paul Laxalt, now Lieutenant governor, is the prospective Republican nominee for governor. He faces nominal primary opposition.

Congress Is Back for Two Hot Issues

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returns today from Labor Day visits home, with two hot issues for immediate attention and a pile of unfinished business threatening the chances of adjourning before the Nov. 8 election.

Senate leaders expect to move promptly for consideration of the civil rights bill with its controversial provisions against discrimination in some housing.

If — as is expected — opponents adopt filibuster tactics, the bill may be set aside while the Senate completes action on fiscal and other major legislation. The civil rights debate ultimately is expected to consume weeks.

The House has scheduled consideration Wednesday of a bill to limit certain bank deposit interest. It is the only legislation bearing directly on the hot political issue of expensive and tight money, but it touches only one facet of that problem — the competition between banks and savings and loan institutions for money to finance mortgages.

The main fight will come on a choice between two versions of the legislation. One, by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., House Banking Committee chairman, would put a 4.5 per cent ceiling on interest paid on time deposits — those left with banks for a fixed period — up to $100,000. The other, backed by the Johnson administration, would leave the ceiling up to the Federal Reserve Board.

Patman contended in a letter to all Democratic members that his bill is the only one that "plainly says it is the intent of Congress that interest rates be lowered."

More than 20 bills await reconciliation of differences between Senate and House versions. Three major ones may see action this week.

One is the $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization, which lacks only Senate approval of compromises. Another is the minimum wage bill, still facing a fight in the House as to whether to put the new top rate, $1.60 an hour, into effect in 1968 or 1969. The third is the $53-billion defense appropriation. The Senate and House are in dispute over provisions authorizing the President to call up some Reserves. He has not asked for such authority.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — William Bert Anderson, 90, of Lake City drowned Monday in the St. Francis River, Grainger County Sheriff Lonnie Cooper said.

Cooper said Anderson's body was found by two fishermen about two miles south of Lake City, which is 10 miles east of here.

Cooper said there was no sign of foul play. He said Anderson had last been seen about noon Monday walking along the levee. He said it was not known how Anderson got into the water.

Thrush Infection Perilous But Easily Controllable

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Thrush, a disease of the mouth often seen in the newborn, is caused by a fungus (Candida albicans). Since this same organism may cause vaginitis, the infant may acquire the disease as he passes through the birth canal. Although the disease is not serious in older children, it may make nursing uncomfortable for the newborn and thus interfere with his early development. For this reason it should be treated promptly.

Since the fungus may be found in the atmosphere, an infant may acquire the infection from contaminated air or nipples. Older children may harbor the fungus in their mouths and show no signs of the disease unless they are suffering from malnutrition or unless treatment with antibiotics has killed off other harmless organisms and left them a clear field.

The disease causes the formation of white patches on the tongue or the mucous lining of the mouth. If the white "scum" is rubbed off (often a difficult procedure), the underlying surface is inflamed and may bleed.

The infection usually responds readily to a variety of remedies. Benzalkonium chloride (Zephiran) or a one per cent solution of gentian violet applied two or three times is usually all that is needed. If the disease is resistant to these measures, nystatin, Tetrax-F (a combination of tetracycline and nystatin) or Gly-Oxide may be used. The best procedure, however, is proper disinfection of anything a baby puts into his mouth during his first five or six months of life.

Q—Many young mothers carry or wheel their babies with the babies' eyes open and exposed to the sun. Isn't this likely to damage the infant's vision?

Q—Fortunately the direct rays of the sun will cause an infant to close his eyes and turn his head away, so it is not likely that he would incur any serious damage to his vision. Nevertheless, I believe it is wise to be on the safe side and shade an infant's eyes from the sun.

Q—What would cause a 2½-year-old child to drool constantly even though he is through teething?

A—Chronic inflammation of the gums or tonsils, mercury poisoning (usually from calomel), cretinism and cerebral palsy are the most common causes.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Bullfighting steers was practiced during the spectacles in the Roman colosseum in the days of Julius Caesar. Steers for these early Roman circuses were imported from Spain. The sport became so popular that emperor Augustus built the Statilus Taurus, the first Roman amphitheater designed for this spectacle. Eventually, this contest of brute strength of men over bulls developed into bullfighting.

OUT OUR WAY

By NEQ COCHRAN

Declarer at a suit contract wants to draw trumps in order to keep his opponents from ruffing some of his side suit winners and the general rule is to pull trumps as soon as you can afford to do so.

You can't afford to pull trumps when you need dummy's trumps to ruff some of your side suit losers. Occasionally you may need them to keep your opponents from forcing you to use up one of your own trumps.

There is a simple way for South to play his four spade contract. He can ruff the second heart and go right after the trump suit. If trumps break 3-3 he will concede a trick to the ace of clubs and make five odd. Trumps break 3-3 sometimes but a 4-2 break is more likely.

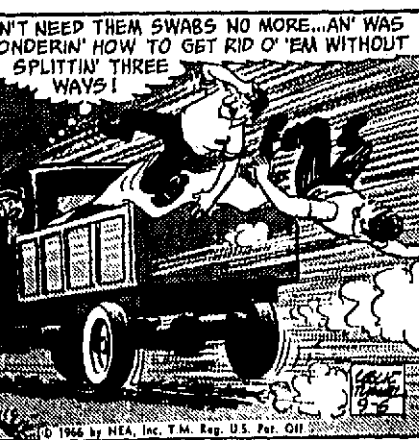

They break 4-2 this time and the simple play is not going to work. South will run out of trumps before he gets time to set up a club trick and will lose his contract.

He will be able to blame the loss on that unfortunate trump division but the real reason will be poor trump management.

South must not go after trumps until he has knocked out the ace of clubs or at least played clubs once. It is all right for him to ruff the second heart. Then he must lead a club. If East ducks, South abandons the suit and runs out his contract with spades and diamonds. If East takes his ace of clubs and leads a third heart South must discard so as to retain four trumps. Then if East leads still another heart South will be able to ruff in dummy.

This play gives up the chance to make an overtrick but who cares about overtricks when the contract is in danger!

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people who have problems and need help. As with the rest of Helen Help US, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a flimsy fl.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US, this newspaper.

PEPPER WAITING PERIOD

Dear Helen: This may seem like a dumb question, but it's pretty important to me. How long should I wait before kissing a girl good night? I've been dating this girl four months now and I like her a lot. We're not going steady because our parents don't approve and neither do we. Last night I almost kissed her, but was not sure. I'm 15 and she's 17.

Dear Helen: She has no doubt been ready, willing and waiting for at least three months. But she probably thinks a lot more of it because you made her wait.

Dear Helen: How do you keep a house nice when the family is in the midst of remodeling? Carpenters are always traipsing in and out and sawdust flies everywhere.

That's only part of my problem. I'm engaged to be married, and the deal is: If we can save enough money to satisfy our needs plus more we can marry sooner. My mother suggested that I keep house and baby-sit for my little sister this summer. If I do the job satisfactorily she pays me $17 a week.

I spend most of the morning cleaning house and then have it all to do over. The afternoons are filled with ironing, riding hard on a five-year-old, more chores. But when my mother gets home it looks terrible and she says I don't work hard enough. What's a teenager to do? — Worn Out

Dear W.O.: Think twice about taking home responsibilities on a full-time basis. Your mother is trying to tell you something. Listen! — H.

Dear Helen: My best friend, who is not quite 14, is very immature but he doesn't think so. He likes this girl. I don't object to that, but his mother works all day, and this girl is over there almost every day with him alone. I tried to tell him the facts of life, but figured his mother might get mad. She doesn't know about the girl.

Please tell me how I can get across to him that "just talking" can lead up to something that he will regret for the rest of his life. I don't want to be called a nut, so can't tell his mother he is going steady and heading for trouble. — Boy Psychologist

Dear B.P.: Your mother could tell his mother, couldn't she? Or, more to the point, tell the girl's parents. This "alone" together-ness should come to a screeching halt — fast! — H.

IS THE REAL ADULT?

Dear Helen: Will the real adult please stand up? Is it...
1. Twelve-year old Betty Lou broke, who is old enough to pay adult prices at theaters and parks, but not old enough to earn money for it?
2. Twenty-one-year-old Wayne who just went in to see an adult-only movie to giggle at it?
3. Twenty-one-year-old Earl Single, who will vote for a man in his party says because he knows nothing about politics and doesn't care?

4. Fifteen-year-old Pat Nolege who is a non-voting Political Science major now in Viet Nam?

5. Fifteen-and-one-half-year-old Julie Sure who has completed her Drivers' Ed course, knows her manual inside out, but must wait six months for her license?

6. Twenty-five-year-old John Crash who has a license, many traffic violations and counts for drunk driving?

7. Seventeen-year-old Beth Older who can hold her liquor, beer, etc., because she has been taught moderation at home, but can't have a legal drink?

8. Twenty-three-year-old Dave Dolt who can drink legally, but can't hold his liquor?

9. Twenty-five-year-old May who used birth control pills to keep her in a friends from becoming fathers?

10. Sixteen-year-old Laura Learned, who made a foolish mistake, realizes it, will have her baby and never make that mistake again?

I may be just 15, Helen, and pretty dumb... but really: If you see what I see all around me, then will somebody please tell me the real definition of ADULT? — The Unwritten Problem

Dear U.P.: Your "Adult" isn't age, it's attitude. But we can't test each individual to see whether he has the qualifications of maturity, and so we must make rules governed by age. This isn't always fair, but... is there any other way? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble let Helen Help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Less Bright Students
Deserve Chance

Under pressure of enrollment demands, many colleges have increased their entrance requirements to the point that only those with superior grades and backgrounds are admitted. This may be a necessary procedure in view of the fact that facilities have not been provided to match the enrollment rate, but no doubt many potentially bright students are overlooked — especially among those who are products of inferior high schools. The point was made quite well the other day at a meeting of the Southern Regional Education Board on Jekyll Island by two educators from opposite sections of the country.

Dr. John W. Gustad, dean at New College at Sarasota, Fla., said a college's job is easier if it accepts only better students but that the real criterion of how good a job a college does in education is how well it teaches the less bright students. Dr. Nevitt Sandorf of Stanford University in California told the group that the policy of accepting only bright students "is like that of a psychiatrist whose patients end up in excellent health because he refuses to take any patients who are sick to start with. . . . The real test of a college is the amount of change it is able to bring about in students, whatever their level of abilities."

It is recognized, of course, that some students who seek entry would not gain much from higher education. Others who are poorly prepared can adjust more easily by attending junior colleges, where their capacities for and developed. These are the students who should be encouraged and enabled to continue in four-year professional and academic schools. Screening of students is understandable by colleges and universities hard-pressed for facilities and facilities. The process should take into consideration, however, the advice of Dr. Gustad and Dr. Sandorf. — Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

Delaware's Audacity

The tiny state of Delaware has just used the State of Oklahoma — and all 48 other states, too. The specific cause of action is to have the U. S. Supreme Court declare unconstitutional the state unit — vote (winner-take-all) system of electing Presidential electors. The argument is that under the present system, the electoral votes of the 11 largest states, plus those of any other state, are enough to win a Presidential election.

We are inclined to agree. It seems a logical extension of the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote principle that fair representation should be applied also to the archaic electoral college. What impresses us more than the argument, though, is tiny Delaware's audacity in taking on the rest of the Union.

If Delaware can do that, and get away with it, Oklahoma may be tempted to sue for the return of some of those corporate headquarters Delaware has been sheltering for so many years. Just because Delaware was the first of the original 13 colonies doesn't mean it can slicker us for ever. — Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune.

Soybean Grading School Here

Soybean grades and standards are important to every soybean producer, said county agent Calvin J. Caldwell. All producers are invited to attend the soybean grading school to be held in the Extension Service committee room at the Hempstead County Courthouse. The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and last until about 11:30 a.m., Thursday, September 8.

Dr. A. W. Woodard, Extension Marketing Specialist, and Mr. Herman Pettit, USDA Grain Inspector at Little Rock Grain Exchange, will lead the discussion. Dr. Woodard will give the soybean outlook and discuss soybean grades and standards. Mr. Pettit will show samples of soybean grades and how to recognize the various grades will become more important to the producer as we increase acreages said Mr. Caldwell.

LBJ Begins Pre-election Politicking

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has begun his official pre-election politicking with an 18-speech Midwestern tour that drew big crowds and enthusiastic cheers for his Viet Nam policy.

There were a few jarring notes during Monday's swing through Michigan and Ohio. But from Johnson's standpoint, the "yeahs" clearly were in the majority.

One presidential speech, at a packed fairgrounds in racially tense Dayton, Ohio, was interrupted twice when some of his supporters scuffled with antiwar demonstrators.

The shoving and pushing matches, about 50 yards in front of Johnson's platform, did not in themselves interrupt the chief executive's words. Instead, he had to pause when many in the crowd cheered as antiwar banners were pulled down and ripped apart.

Ironically, all this happened as Johnson was discussing the plight of restive youth, asking, "Is the right to demonstrate all a society can offer the restless, surging spirit of a generation that asks where the action is?"

The President later ad-libbed a reference to the young demonstrators, saying it is those who wear the green beret of the Special Forces "who make it possible for you to dissent, who give you the liberty and the freedom that you so freely exercise."

Traveling for the first time this election season at the expense of the Democratic party, Johnson visited Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., Dayton and Lancaster, Ohio. The crowds got bigger at every stop and, if official estimates were halfway accurate, totaled more than 250,000 people.

Johnson got one of his noisiest ovations from a rain-sprinkled, after-dark throng at the Lancaster fairgrounds. This came when he said no one wants to kill or be killed, no president wants to order young men into battle, "but we must deal with the world as it is."

In the set of prepared speeches Johnson took with him, one contained two policy statements — one rejecting the idea of any cutback of American forces in Europe at this time, the other responding to French President Charles de Gaulle's statement that Viet Nam peace talks must be preceded by an American commitment to some timetable for withdrawing its forces from South Viet Nam.

Johnson never did read his troops-in-Europe statement, though the White House takes the position that the unspoken words are a part of the presidential record.

Grotto Group Picks Arkansan

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — James Newman of the Bendeneer Grotto of Little Rock was named second vice president Monday at the 32nd annual convention of the Southwest States Grotto Association.

The convention ended Monday with more than 500 delegates from Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma registered for the three-day conference.

Saturday morning, while waiting for their papers, newsboys decided to hold a bubble gum blowing contest. Left to right are Robert Fravell, John Grimes, Ernie Fravell, the winner who not only had the size, he blew six bubbles inside the large one; and Brad Rogers.

Labor Day Death Toll Over 600

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic deaths across the nation during the three-day Labor Day weekend soared well above 600, a record for any summer period.

Delayed reports of deaths in accidents up to midnight Monday night showed a total of 624 persons killed in the 78-hour period.

This compared with 505 deaths in a nonholiday weekend of equal length.

It topped the previous record toll of 563 for a three-day Labor Day weekend, set last year. It also surpassed the record traffic toll for any summer holiday, 576 deaths in the three-day Independence Day observance this year.

Strap Helped End Strike of Prisoners

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Tear gas, gun shots and the use of a controversial leather strap for punishment have apparently ended a three-day sit-down strike by convicts at this Arkansas prison farm.

An aide to Gov. Orval Faubus said Monday night that "everything was quiet" at the prison and that all but one of the 144 strikers had returned to the farm fields.

Clarence Thornbrough, executive assistant to the governor, said State Police had used tear gas and fired shots into the air earlier in the day to break up a melee among trustees and the striking convicts.

He said the men went back to the fields after 10 were punished with the whip-like leather strap. He said the other man was also punished with the strap, put on a diet of bread and water and placed in an isolated cell.

Thornbrough quoted Faubus as saying, "I hope that they have got it settled down there now."

The aide said his reports came from Prison Supt. O. E. Bishop, who could not be reached by newsmen.

Thornbrough said the melee started Monday morning when trustees were sent in to encourage the convicts to return to work.

He said State Police then lobbed tear gas shells into the group and fired shots into the air, ending the fighting.

Injuries were limited to a few skinned knuckles, he said.

Ten Negro convicts were punished with the five-foot long leather strap fastened to a wooden handle.

The strike began Thursday when Faubus came here to discuss with Bishop the firing of all hired personnel at the nearby Tucker Prison Farm.

They were fired after State Police investigators reported finding extortion and beatings of convicts.

The governor said the strike began because convicts were under the "mistaken impression" that the strap had been banned. Faubus told a news conference last Wednesday that use of the strap would be banned when a special isolation ward was constructed.

Filibuster Expected on Rights Bill

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate heads into debate — and an expected filibuster — on the House-passed 1966 civil rights bill today amid mixed views on its fate.

Sponsors said they are confident the bill will be passed containing some form of open housing provision.

But a sizable number of senators said privately they believed that, after a period of frustrating debate, the measure would be shunted aside until next year.

Others said they saw a good chance it would be passed with the housing section removed, leaving this issue to be fought out in a Senate-House conference.

Length of the debate will be the key to whether Congress can meet a mid-October adjournment target.

The unofficial word was that the leaders were prepared to go along with two weeks of talk. Then, if it appears the Southerners have mounted a filibuster against it, they were understood to be planning an attempt to shut down the debate with a cloture vote.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield would only say publicly, however, that he had no idea how long it might take to settle the issue.

The bill would ban discrimination in about 40 per cent of the nation's housing units, mostly apartments and new single-home developments. Individual homeowners would not be covered.

Mansfield planned to move to bring up the bill for debate today as soon as the Senate completes a brief period set aside for routine business such as introduction of bills.

The motion is debatable and Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said Southern senators plan to talk about it, at least for a while.

In consideration of the 1964 civil rights bill, the Dixie senators delayed a vote on such a motion for 17 days.

This strategy gives opponents an opportunity for a double filibuster, against the preliminary motion and then the bill itself.

The Southerners planned to stress this week that the House bill was not sent to the Judiciary Committee, as would be the normal practice.

Instead, when the measure arrived from the House Aug. 11, Mansfield forced it directly onto the Senate calendar.

The Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., has declined in the past to act on civil rights bills.

However, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Judiciary Committee member and the bill's floor manager, said he would present a statement supported by a majority of the committee urging adoption of the House measure with some minor changes.

Planes Rain Bombs on Red Positions

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Giant B52 bombers rained bombs on Communist positions in the demilitarized zone today, and the U.S. air offensive over North Viet Nam returned to full fury.

American pilots flew a near-record 152 attack missions against the North Monday. They reported shooting up three railroad trains carrying war supplies and knocking out numerous trucks.

U.S. Marines reported killing 26 Communist soldiers in a day-long fight against an entrenched enemy battalion southwest of Da Nang. It was the only major ground contact reported.

The high-altitude B52s from Guam struck two targets in the six-mile-wide buffer zone between North and South Viet Nam while the Saigon government filed an urgent request to the International Control Commission to inspect the area.

As the B52s pounded the zone for the sixth time since July 20, South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do offered air transportation to the area more than 400 miles north of Saigon so commission officials could verify "the presence of armed elements of the North Vietnamese 324B Division and anti-aircraft positions."

He told a news conference his government wants to show allied forces are operating near the zone and bombing it only in self-defense. The zone was created by the 1954 Geneva Conference, which brought temporary peace to Indochina.

3 Fail in Try for a Jailbreak

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Three prisoners have been charged with jailbreak at Jonesboro after their unsuccessful attempt to become the first persons to escape the Craighead County jail since it was erected in the 1930s.

Sheriff Lonnie Cooper said the three men used hacksaw blades to remove a metal light fixture off the bars separating an eating area from a hall on the second floor of the two-story jail early Monday.

He said jailer Charlie Stroud watched from inside the jail while Cooper waited outside.

Cooper said Stroud walked in on the men after they crawled through a 12-by-18-inch hole where the light fixture had been removed. The men surrendered, Cooper said.

The three, all of near Jonesboro, were Lawrence Chester, 24, Jimmy Hoy, 23, and James Greathouse, 23.

Chester was charged with forgery, Hoy with burglary and Greathouse with grand larceny.

Democrats Fear Freshmen May Get Beat

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic strategists said today they think that more than 36 of the 48 first-term House Democrats serving in previously Republican districts are in varying degrees of political danger two months before the Nov. 8 balloting.

A few of the other 24 Democratic freshmen also may have close races, they said.

But the Democrats are not writing off any seats at this point.

The Democratic class of 1964, which rode the crest of President Johnson's landslide victory, has given him a working majority in the House for the past two years. The loss of as many as 24 of the 48 from previously GOP districts would seriously erode the President's chances of getting major domestic legislation through the House.

However, the Democrats expect to retain numerical control of the House. They now have 294 seats to 139 Republicans and two vacancies.

The 48 Democratic freshmen from previously GOP districts have supported the President on every key vote this year, ranging from 2-1 majorities on the Participation Sales Act and raising car and phone excise taxes to the 42-6 majority that saved the compromise open housing section of the civil rights bill.

What makes them particularly vulnerable is that all but a handful occupy marginal districts — those won with under 55 per cent of the vote — which generally voted Republican before 1964.

Rep. Weston E. Vivian of Michigan, for example, was the first Democrat ever elected from his Ann Arbor district, and he won by only 1,526 votes with 50.6 per cent of the total.

And Iowa, which previously had six Republicans and one Democrat, turned around and elected six Democrats and one Republican. Five of the Democrats polled less than 54 per cent of the vote.
